TEMPERANCE AND RELIGIOUS

BY J. D. LINDSAY.

AT THE close of the previous week, there was a meeting of selectmen and societaries which are so noble in their origin and honest in their results, and for which the people in every town will be proud to have them in their community.

There is one which, though still comparatively young, has accumulated much good already for the future. I allude to the "Temperance Society," whose motto is "God is our strength."

It is now nearly two years old,

and has done much good.

It is now fully organized,

and is well supported.

It is a powerful organization,

and has done much good.

It is a powerful organization,

and has done much good.

It is a powerful organization,

and has done much good.

It is a powerful organization,

and has done much good.

It is a powerful organization,

and has done much good.

It is a powerful organization,
